Gifted and Distractible

by: Julie F. Skolnick

Listen or Read

This book study is for those who want to understand and support students identified as twice exceptional as well as to gain strategies for success.

Engage and Empower

Step beyond just how to meet the needs of these students in the classroom. Empower yourself to build connections with families

Gifted Competencies

This book study will address the following competencies as outlined in the Gifted Rule:

- d) The ability to understand the social and emotional needs of students who are gifted and to address the impact of those needs on student learning;
- e) The ability to recognize and respond to characteristics and needs of students from traditionally underrepresented populations who are gifted and create safe and culturally responsive learning environments;
